CAMERON HOUSE MAY BE SUFFRAGISTS HOME

Women's Congressional Union Considers Leasing Residence as Permanent Headquarters in Capital.

Whether or not the Cameron House hall be obtained as a permanent headquarters for the Congressional Union was discussed yesterday afternoon when many women prominent in the cause of suffrage gathered at a tea at the old ers have left for Maine, Massachusetts and Louisiana to organize branches of the Union, following requests from women of those States that some one be sent to aid in perfecting branches there. Miss Mabel Vernon will leave later in the week to complete the organization of a branch in Kansas. The success of the Susan B. Anthons pageant recently held in Washington, and the number of requests from all parts of the country that the pageant be repeated elsewhere, is causing mmbers of the Union to seriously consider the advisability of producing the pageant through the West. There was much sentiment yesterday that a tour be made of the West and South.

Speaker Pleads for Quit During Present International Crisis-Dr. Shaw Presides at Gathering.

Denying that the Catholic Church is opposed to giving women the ballot, and asking suffragists why the church should allow its women to vote for their spiritual advisers if it opposes such a move, Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, addressed 1,000 women at a mass meeting in Poll's Theater yesterday afternoon, and received tremendous applause when he denied the opposition of the church. Mr. Malone said he purposely brought up the topic of catholicism and suffrage, because it was popularly supposed that the two are opposed in principle. He said that such an idea was absolutely contrary to fact. "Women are not inferior to men, just different," said Mr. Malone. Suffrage is no new thing, to be looked upon as an invention of the twentieth course. The women of Norway, who have voted for years, have never exercised any new prerogative. en at a mass meeting in Poll's Theater years, have never exercised any new prerogative.

How many of you have often heard the saying that the place for women is in the home? Yet how many are there out of the eight million women who daily devote themselves to tasks, who are not compelled to go out and earn the wherewithal to support that home. Women are therefore necessarily interested in the problems that concern the home. Government that sets the right of franchise also sets the price of gas, heat and light, of pure food and pure water. Are not these questions concerning the home as vital as any national issue? You cannot keep women in the home by keeping them in the confines of the home. In the olden days, when women did all the home industries, wove the cloth for making garments, and spun the thread, it was possible, but not now." ible, but not now."

Ask Them to Withhold Criticism.

Mr. Malone said he hoped the nations of Europe would have the same feeling toward the United States at the end of the war as the two champion basball teams did towards the umpire. He complimented President Wilson and said he believed the women of America believed in peace, but not in the kind of peace which is blindly benevolent. Mr. Malone said he did not believe in preparing for war with any particular country, but he did believe in an adequate srmy and navy. At the close of his talk, he appealed to the men and women of the country to withhold their criticism and partisanship until the present internationartisanship until the present international crisis is over.

for Republicans nor Democrats, for par-tisan nor nonpartisan policy."
"Women will be found in war, as in peace, taking no part in the destruction and killing." she said, "but staying at home, saving lives."

Dr. Shaw was warmly applauded, and she introduced Mrs. Catherine Catt, new-ly elected president of the organization, as the "great leader."

Mrs. Catt said the women of the world were waring a war argainst the oldest.
